Historical Context:

Throughout its history, the United States has followed different foreign policies to promote its interests. These policies have included neutrality, imperialism, containment, and internationalism. Specific actions have been taken and specific programs have been established to carry out these policies.

Task:

- Describe two different United States foreign policies
- Discuss one specific action or program the United States has used to carry out each foreign policy
- Evaluate the extent to which the action or program used was successful in carrying out each foreign policy
